

Engineering Ethics through High Impact Collaborative/Competitive Scenarios
Concept Mapping Exercise
Consent Form

You are invited to participate in this online research survey entitled “Engineering Ethics through High Impact Collaborative/Competitive Scenarios”. The purpose of this research study is to characterize the ethical decision making ability of first-year engineering students. You are included in this concept mapping exercise because we are interested in your perception of ethical decision making. We anticipate the overall number of participants to complete the concept mapping portion of our study to be approximately 200 students.

The concept mapping exercise may take approximately 15-20 minutes to complete. Your participation is voluntary. If you do not wish to participate in this exercise, please feel free to leave at any time. Completing this form indicates that you are voluntarily giving consent to participate in the concept mapping portion of our study. We expect the study to last the duration of this academic year.

There are no risks or discomforts associated with this concept mapping exercise. There may be no direct benefit to you, however, by participating in this study you may help us understand how we can increase resource availability on campus to better aid students in developing an entrepreneurial mindset.

Your response will be kept confidential. We will store the data in a secure filing cabinet and the file will be destroyed once the data has been published. Any portion of the research that is published as part of this study will not include your personal information. If you have any questions about the concept mapping exercise or the study in general, you can contact Dr. Scott Streiner (lead researcher in the study) at scs147@pitt.edu.

Please complete the checkboxes below.

To participate in this concept mapping exercise, you must be 18 years or older. Place a check box here if you are 18 years or older.

Completing this concept mapping exercise consent form indicates that you are voluntarily giving consent to participate in the concept mapping portion of our study. Place a check box here if you voluntarily consent to participate and then sign your name below.
